The K'un-ming Airport of the Civil Air Transport Corps has plans for two large enterprises. One is the expansion of transport facilities between K'un-ming and Chekiang. The other is for the opening of five short routes in Yunnan, all starting from K'un-ming and leading to Suu-mao, Li-chiang, Nan-ch'iao, Lan-ts'ang, and Ch'ang-ch'eng. Airfields in these haicns which were used for military activities during the war will be used temporarily. The provincial government will be asked to grant permission to the five haicns for construction of permanent airports.
